

Galway Advertiser -

nt consultants deals with f work, such as trades and re or engineering."
Galway office is only part of
must proactively secure ure that the Hays' Galway ead. His own personal ed to him being voted Year 2007" within Ireland most revenue, and placing per of people into jobs.
personal satisfaction from dates and clients. I never lays we handle people's elp shape their lives every t out to employees that the approach in business are py in one's work, and it's fying when I get positive ople I have placed."
ght employee to the right
skill and knowledge, and recruitment prides itself on ate on all new industry was opened at the same site, with the new image welcomed by customers. The business currently employs 14 staff under general manager Good customer service is paramount in any business and Classic Pies has placed great emphasis on staff training and on retaining staff; allied to November 10 and will be hosted by RTE's Millam O'Callaghan.

Pictured at the CIMA west of Ireland breakfast event in the Clayton Hotel last week were Gerry Staunton (Nortel Networks), Doreena Melly (Boston Scientific), and Jason Delaney (eFast).

Atkins working on two Galway treatment plants

BY DECLAN VARLEY

Atkins Ireland, one of the world's leading providers of professional consulting and construction support services, is working with Galway County Council to procure contracts to design and construct two new wastewater treatment plants in Galway. Construction on the plants in Letterfrack and Clonbur has just started and they are expected to be completed by May 2009.

Atkins is one of the world's leading providers of professional consulting and construction support services employing more than 18,000 staff worldwide. The company is also Europe's largest multi-disciplinary consultancy and employs more than 300 staff in Ireland with offices in Dublin, Cork, Galway and Belfast. Atkins' office in Galway is located in the Parkmore Technology Park, Galway city.

Both of the old treatment works, which have become outdated and undersized, are being demolished and two completely new treatment plants are being built.

In Letterfrack, the new waste water treatment works will be located adjacent to Letterfrack furniture college. The plant is designed to serve a population equivalent (p.e.) of 800, but can accommodate future expansion if required. In Clonbur the capacity of the existing waste water treatment works has been exceeded and the new plant is designed to serve a population equivalent of 710. This plant can also be expanded at a later date if required.

Both plants are being advanced through a design-build process, where Atkins prepared a performance specification for the tender documents and Glan Agua were appointed subsequently to design and build, commission, and hand over the new plants to Galway County Council. In addition to the construction of new treatment plants, Glan Agua will also complete the upgrading and expansion of the sewerage and mains water networks in the areas, to Atkins' designs.

Commenting on the contract, Rónan Daly, senior engineer with Atkins Ireland said the company is delighted to be working with Galway County Council on this project.

"These schemes will provide the villages of Clonbur and Letterfrack with modern and efficient wastewater treatment systems which will provide for the current population and will also provide for future growth.

"In addition, there will be a significant improvement to the quality of treated wastewater being discharged currently from the existing plants".

processes
as a week
bsite

Recruitment's website is t marketing tools.
attracts 750,000 visitors
any given time we would live jobs online across the uld normally process over tions each week."
o the community involves rt of a number of charities mes, such as that of the a construction industry

THE ARCHES HOTEL

Commis Chef Required

Email: Miriam@thearcheshotel.ie

Call 091-739000

SALES REPRESENTATIVE

iclick

www.iclick.ie

Full time and part time sales positions.
Contact Brendan - 087 2487720 or email CVs to bt@iclick.ie

McMahon

Your Building Partner

Est. 1830

SALES REPRESENTATIVE GALWAY

Established in 1832, McMahon's is Ireland's largest independent Builder Providers Group.

As a key part of continued development for our branch in Galway, we require a Sales Representative for the Galway and Connacht region. This position will involve full responsibility for leading the growth of our Galway branch's market share in the area for the

MATRIX

Wanted